MEDBURY

Says the Wireless Is a Wonderful Thing.
A Patient Can Now Be Operated on
By the Morse Code.

By John P. Medbury

Thanks to the Seamen's Church Institute, all of the big ships at sea will now be able to furnish their passengers with medical advice by radio. It's pretty nice when you can have your tonsils cut out by wireless.

If it wasn't for this seafaring organization we wouldn't be able to have our adenoids removed by long distance.

If you get a pain in your side while you're at sea you just tell the wireless operator about it and he'll have your appendix taken out by Morse code.

Instead of being operated on by stabs and stitches you'll be operated on by dots and dashes.

If you break your leg or arm they have a special signal they use. It is "K. D. K. F." It means "Call Doctor Kum Fixit."

Of course, the spelling is wrong.

MOUNTAINEER IS WEDDED THRICE
TO SAME WOMAN

"No More Divorce Suits for This Family," Declares Blushing Bride, 50.

BLACKKEY, Ky., Sept. 13.—That love springs eternal in the human breast is a paraphrase of an old saying that is proved true by the third marriage of J. M. Taylor, sixty-five years old, wealthy farmer of Letcher county, and one-time Rebecca Brewer, fifty years old, who twice before has been Taylor's wife.

Taylor and Miss Brewer first married when she was a slip of a girl. After several years trouble arose and they were divorced. They tried single life for a time, found they could not be happy apart and were married again. This romance went upon the rocks in a couple of years. A second divorce followed. After a time Taylor married another, who died after a few years.

His first and second wife was still at her mountain home. The other day he called on her, wooed her again and a third wedding was agreed upon. When the groom came to Blackkey for the license he said:

"I'll be good to Rebecca now, she is the only woman for me, and I guess I ought to know." The three-time bride of the same man commented:

"There will be no more divorce suits in this family," and she looked as if she meant it.

RATS AND COCKROACHES
CAPTURE CITY BUILDING

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13.—Clevelanders today are calling their three-million-dollar city hall the "house of three million rats and roaches."

Rodents and insects have taken possession of the building. City employees are waging a game but losing battle.

City engineers are complaining that city work is being held up. Blue prints and architectural drawings, they say, apparently are the favorite delicacies of the "night force" at midnight lunch hour.

A stenographer in the safety director's office opened her desk today to powder her nose. She postponed the event when she saw a mother rat with four little ones nestling among her powder and rouge pads.

but who cares about being correct when you're rushing for a doctor.

The patient might die while you're correcting your grammar.

Though you may be eight hundred miles away from him, the doctor picks up an instrument and listens to your heart. He might tell you it was beating too loud and all the time he was listening to the engine.

He'd think he was listening to your breathing, but he'd be hearing a leaky steam pipe from the boiler room.

How is a doctor going to feel your pulse or take your temperature by Marconi?

He'd have to look at your tongue through a pair of marine glasses.

He might think he saw a coat on it when all the time it would be a vest and a pair of trousers.

He tells the wireless operator what kind of medicine to give you and then the captain of the ship keeps right on going until he comes to a corner drug store.

It might take the druggist quite a while to fill the prescription, and then the captain is liable to get a tag for parking too long.

The wireless is a wonderful thing. You can get ill out at sea and the doctor knows all about it ten minutes after you get the first pain.

Of course, there is a difference in the time, too, and in some cases the doctor knows you're ailing three hours before you get sick.

It might be 3 o'clock in New York and 7 o'clock out at sea where you are, so the doctor's bound to know you've got pains four hours before you feel them.

They usually operate an hour after an accident, so if you should break your leg at sea the wireless operator would call the physician and your leg would be set three hours before you broke it. (Copyright, 1921, Premier Syndicate, Inc.)

Hairs Will Vanish
After This Treatment

(Toilet Helps)

You can keep your arms, neck or face free from hair or fuzz by the occasional use of plain delatone and in using it you need have no fear of marring or injuring the skin. A thick paste is made by mixing some of the powdered delatone with water. Then spread on the hairs and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and all traces of hair have vanished. Be careful, however, to get real delatone.
